

Tschudi Project Transport – 6 months later.

By Thomas Vestergaard

The project department in the Tschudi Group under the name Tschudi Project Transport has now been a part of the Tschudi family for 6 month. The Tschudi Project Transport brand has had a flying start, a tremens amount of interesting projects have been received from our close friends at Tschudi Logistics right from the beginning - most of them concerning Russia and CIS. Furthermore, it seems as though the Danish exporters of project cargo have being waiting for a new player on the market and therefore shown great support to our new setup. Some of the projects that have been carried in September out can be seen here below.

Loading house modules in Estonia for Norway

Loading generals in China for Syria

H/L cargo from Denmark to Thailand

H/L cargo from North China

What's more is that we are continuously seeking new projects to develop, in order to do this our new college Earl Henrik Lasson in Tallinn and I have taken part the ONS conference in Stavanger in order to develop relations to the oil and gas industry and have already established a number of new exciting contacts. Last but not least Trine Bødker Jensen has been employed at our Copenhagen office, in order to assist in covering our inquiries, finding the right tonnage for our client and helping out with the post fixture. Trine has a background from Blue Water Shipping, Esbjerg/Copenhagen, where she has been taking care of all aspects in the transport chain right from agency to forwarding and has last been employed at Scan Global Logistics working with sales.
